BCHS celebrates FBLA Week

The Bracken County Future Business Leaders of America Chapter celebrated FBLA Week this week with chapters not only across Kentucky, but nationwide. Future Business Leaders of America is a non-profit educational association for students who are interested in learning more about the free enterprise system. The purpose of FBLA is to prepare members for careers in business and to assist them by becoming better employees and citizens. FBLA helps students develop leadership abilities, prepares them for entry into business-related occupations, and offers a setting where members compete at regional, state and national levels in business and technology curriculum.

The BCHS Chapter is very active in regional, state, and national competitions, fundraising, and community service projects. This school year, they worked on getting a "Blessing Box" approved, built, and continuously stocked food and winter apparel items for the needy in our community. See pages 6 and 7 for more of their competitions and events.

St. Augustine School Celebrated Catholic Schools Week

Saint Augustine School celebrated Catholic Schools Week, January 28th - February 3rd, with a variety of activities that celebrated the parish, community, families, students, vocations, staff and volunteers.

A special Mass at St. Augustine Church kicked off the week that was followed up with Stephan Russell's home-cooked breakfast and the PTO's BINGO.

As a way of giving back to the community, students from St. Augustine delivered "goodies" to local businesses and service workers on Monday.

On Tuesday, all students were given bracelets with this year's theme, " Learn. Serve. Lead. Succeed.". Students played games, watched movies and ate snacks. As a bonus, the students had no homework assigned for the day.

On Wednesday, the students celebrated vocations. St. Augustine students enjoyed listening to guest speakers Monsignor Fosu, Pastor of St. Augustine Church, and Katie Young, Nurse Practitioner and local business owner. Both spoke to the students about their vocation/career. The 5th grade students attended the annual Catholic Schools Week Mass at the Cathedral Basilica in Covington and toured the Sisters of Notre Dame Convent.

A family "STEM NIGHT" was held on Thursday. Families engaged in Science, Technology, Engineering and Math activities that required application of knowledge, problem-solving, critical thinking, ingenuity and cooperation. All the parents and students ate dinner together at the end of the evening.

The week concluded with a special luncheon prepared by Melissa Takata, and other Parishioners for teachers, staff and volunteers.

Catholic Schools Week is a special time in a Catholic student's life. It is a celebration of the beliefs, values and recognition of the roles God, family, the parish, and community play in their lives. St. Augustine students engaged in activities in which they learned, served, and led by example. Catholic Schools Weeks prepares students to be successful in life. St. Augustine students were very successful in achieving their goals for Catholic Schools Week 2018.

Notice to the voters in the Chatham Precinct

I, Keith Miller, would like to take this opportunity to inform the people of the Chatham Precinct that I will not be continuing with my bid for magistrate. I was asked to consider running for this office just two days before the registration deadline. After further consideration, I realize that I do not have the knowledge of this office that I would like to have. Given more time, I would have been able to be more prepared for this task and also had more knowledge about the inner workings of politics in Bracken County. I am honored to have had the opportunity to run for an office in our county and I wish each and every candidate good luck. I want to sincerely thank my neighbors, friends, and family who have already shown their support of me.

Thoughts and Meditations from the Scriptures

MOST OF THE WORLD IS INVISIBLE

Physics provides a wealth of examples which illustrate that we see but a tiny fraction of the universe. Visible light is a tiny fraction of the electromagnetic spectrum, and whereas our galaxy (the Milky Way) was believed by scientists less than a hundred years ago to be the only galaxy, it is now known that there are at least 100 billion galaxies besides our own, each galaxy containing some 100 billion stars. The universe is quite large, it is expanding, and it is expanding at an accelerating rate. And consider that the entire universe, some 14 billion years ago, was confined to an area smaller than an atom. There are so many ways in which what we see and experience is just the tip of the iceberg that we would do well to be humble. Overconfidence can be dangerous in the realms of both knowledge and action. The psychologists Amos Tversky and Daniel Kahneman have done seminal work exploring cognitive biases (the ways in which our thinking leads us to make faulty judgements or errors). One of these biases is the "availability heuristic," which leads us to favor data and facts that are ready to hand. We give prominence to recent events and are biased towards what we know, when in fact what we don't know can be very important to the issue or judgement we are making. Be humble in the face of what you do not know. – Christopher Simon

"For we know in part and we prophesy in part, but when completeness comes, what is in part disappears. When I was a child, I talked like a child, I thought like a child, I reasoned like a child. When I became a man, I put the ways of childhood behind me. For now we see only a reflection as in a mirror; then we shall see face to face. Now I know in part; then I shall know fully, even as I am fully known." —1 Corinthians 13:9-12 NIV

May all have a Happy Valentine's Day and may your heart overflow with love for each other.

Valentine's Day was declared by England's king Henry V11 in 1537. Red roses are considered the flower of love because red stands for strong romantic feelings. 189 million roses are sold in the U.S. on this day. A box of chocolates was introduced by Richard Cadbury in 1868, more than 140 years ago.

There is only one happiness in this life and that is to love and be loved. Corinthians 13:7 tells us that love never gives up.

May we remember that God is Love and He wants us to love Him with all our heart and to love each other.

Chatham Christian Church Church Mouse (S.B.Y.)

On this Sun., Feb. 11, we were so glad to see our guest and each other.

John & Betty Henderson are celebrating their wedding anniversary. They have been married 68 years and what a blessing they have been to us at Chatham and in the community. We love you two and hope you enjoyed your frog legs and your day with your family. John, we sure do miss you and will be glad when you are back with us. Sure was great having Betty with us today.

Ron Foley brought our SS lesson on "National Treasure". Matthew 21:12-16. Jesus let Himself be lifted up on a cross of shame... defaced and disgraced. Only by the resurrection would it be known that He truly was the Son of God. Next Sunday's lesson: "A Blessing Bowl". Romans 1:1-10.

JoAnn Brown played a beautiful song that just gave one chills "I Asked The Lord". Jane Nelson played "Wonderful Grace of Jesus". The smoke was coming out of the piano!

Bro. Jackie's message: "Hot Topics". Matthew 22:35-40; Colossians 3:7-11. We are to put off: Anger; Wrath; Malice; Blasphemy; Filthy Language; and Sin of Lying.

Remember in prayer: Debbie McElfresh recently got out of the hospital. She had the flu and kidney stones. She had a procedure done this week for her kidney stones. Larry Haas, Brian Lippert, John & Betty Henderson, Elmer "Crickett" Polley, Sis Garrison, Carl Conley, Joe Ferrell (surgery this week), Crawford Thornton (back in the hospital), Ron Foley, Ruth Nickerson, Kathy Williams (will be taking her last treatments from Mayo Clinic and will be coming home soon), Margaret Watkins, Pauline Jefferson (pacemaker), the lost, our country and leaders. Always remember each other and all those on prayer list.

Sympathy and prayers to the following families in the passing of their loved ones...Jay Colemire, John Hampton, Virgie Wood, and Angie Puccini.

May we be a shinning light for JESUS.

BERLIN BAPTIST
by Karen Cooper

We invite all to come and worship with our family of believers. Sunday services begin with Sunday School at 10:00 a.m., morning worship with Rev. Dan Black at 11:00 a.m. and Sunday night services are held at 7:00 p.m. Please join us for a wonderful time in the Lord.

This past Sunday morning Brother Black's message was taken from 1 Corinthians 13:1-13 and titled "Love Is The Greatest Gift of All."

Women's Missions Meeting is on Mar. 4 @ 6 p.m.

PRESBYTERIAN POTPOURRI
by Les Grooms, pastor Augusta Presbyterian

We had our monthly business meeting of the church this past Sunday morning. Routine tasks were accomplished like the financial report and reading of the minutes and planning for the future.

Lynn Darnell was liturgist, Susie Hargett led the singing, and Deborah Habermehl sang a special song.

Monday night is our monthly Soup Supper and this Monday we will have our traditional once a month breakfast meal. After Soup Supper the women of the church will be meeting to do their planning for upcoming events.

Early Tuesday we head to Wilder to get food from the Freestore Foodbank. Goree Spradlin will be taking his pickup and I will be taking my SUV. Much of the food is free but we also have to pay for some. The free food usually consists of potatoes, onions, cabbage, sweet potatoes, oranges, apples and sometimes surprises. We also are privileged to select as much meat as we can use from the assortment that they offer. We usually are offered a bakery assortment. Last week we got cereal, once we got a lot of deodorant, and shampoo. It is like Christmas. We never know what we will get until we show up. Tuesday afternoon the Food Bank opens and for about two hours we are very busy. Last week we gave to 36 families.

Wednesday at 12:05 we have our first Lenten service and this service is traditionally held at St. Augustine. Come and join us. On Feb. 21 we will be having the service at the Presbyterian Church.

First Assembly of God welcomes new pastor

On Sunday, February 11, the First Assembly of God Church of Brooksville hosted an installation ceremony for their new Pastor, Reverend Maria E. Hardy

The state A of G superintendent, Reverend Joseph Girdler conducted the service and ceremony.

Special guests included Dr. Renee Girdler, Rev. Rhonda Fields, Pastor Kevin Clos, and Sheriff Howard W. Niemeier.

Forty church members and friends were in attendance and all enjoyed an after party of hand made cookies, special cupcakes and delicious punch.

OAKLAND CHRISTIAN
by Barbara Browning

Oh, it was a much better Sunday - attendance was much better! The message of the hour reminded us that we are "Born to Love" as Christ loved us.

Several had on their red today as we sought to promote awareness of women's heart disease.

A very special treat today was being served a special "Valentine Spaghetti Lunch" by our youth. We appreciate Clay and all his "flock" for a special meal.

Choir practice has resumed at 5:30 each Sunday, preparing for the Easter season.

Perfect North tubing trip, February 17 for all ages, leaving Oakland at 2 p.m. Call Clay if questions 859-445-7253.

"Ladies Day on the Ridge" committee meeting is February 23, 6:30 p.m.

The Worship Committee meeting is February 26, 6:30 p.m.

Remember in your prayers Carol Miley, Ronnie King, Jeanine Cox, Alma Crawford, Hilda Helphenstein, Kathy Williams, Tommy Jefferson, Donna Rath, Carol Klaber, Joel Brumley, Connie Peed, Paula Thornsbury, Charlie Tarvin, Melissa Beckett, Jim Haley, Ellie Hammons (3), Bud Hinton, Logan Florence, Terri Massey, shut-ins, cancer issues, our nation and our armed forces. Our sympathy to the families of Robbie Colemire Sr., John Hampton, Virgie Wood, and Sharon Groves.

GREETINGS FROM ST. JAMES
by Caroline Jefferson

Welcome to Lent 2018 with its numerous opportunities to follow through with those Lenten resolutions of prayer and fasting! Mass will be celebrated Ash Wednesday at 8 AM at St. Augustine and at 7 PM at St. James. All parishioners are urged to participate to begin the Lenten Season with the traditional distribution of ashes by Msgr. Dominic reminding us that we are dust and to dust we shall return.

Eucharistic Adoration will continue during Lent and from 6-7 PM each Wednesday evening at St. Augustine and Thursday evening at St. James, Monsignor will be available for the Sacrament of Reconciliation, followed by Benediction. Monsignor will then lead us in the prayers of the Stations of the Cross. Also, beginning on Saturday, February 17 at 9 AM at St. Augustine, Monsignor will conduct a Bible Study Group. The New Year is 45 days old already and in 45 more days we will be celebrating Easter Sunday! Time flies by quickly so please don't let these opportunities for prayer and a better Lenten Season pass you by! Mark your calendars today to remind you that prayer and fasting lead to a glorious Easter morning!

Augusta Christian Church News

by Wanda & Marlene Bruce Heller, Minister

We met with God's people to worship the Lord. We studied the book of Samuel and his wife Hannah. She so wanted a child who would help her when she became old. Keep praying and do not give up but be careful what you pray for.

Jerry Zeigler gave the opening prayer. James Cox gave the closing prayer.

We had Patsy Cline and Johnny Cash at our church and they sang so good! (It was really Mary & Jerry Zeigler). What a great job!

Our church message was in the Book of Titus. There is no greater love than laying down your life for a friend. Man was created to work and encourage one another to worship the Lord.

Greg Perkins and his wife had their 44th anniversary.

Please keep in prayer: Scottie Kiskaden, Mike Shucher, Hazel Kroch, Carl Coloney and others who are sick or hurting, and the women & men in our service in this great nation.

Trash Talk

by: Mr. Recycle Bin & Ms. Pick-Up Litterbug

Howdy Folks! For those of you who receive your copy of The Bracken County News on Wednesdays, Happy Valentine's Day!! And to those of you who receive your paper on Thursdays or later if you are out of county, Happy "Belated" Valentine's Day!! Of course, celebrating Valentine's Day means that February is half over and we are 45 days in to the New Year! How are those New Year's resolutions coming? Has anyone carried through with them? We sincerely hope that you have given consideration to starting a recycling program in your home or office. Even if the weather has hampered and dampened your initial enthusiasm for recycling, you can set a date to begin when the weather brings sun and warmth rather than snow and cold! Part of our Annual Report to Frankfort requires that we include information from the Mason County Recycling Center regarding the total tonnage of recycling material delivered to that facility. In 2017 Bracken County's total weight was 132.4 tons or 264,800 pounds! Even if you think your one sack of recycling per week is not going to make that much difference, please reconsider. The trailers are filled with both large and small bags and each one contributes and is important!

Recycling material is not just important to increase weight, but that importance reaches beyond the here and now and will eventually determine the life or death of our planet! Each and every citizen must make a conscious decision that they will be a part of the environmental solution and not the cause! Every piece of paper, every can, glass or plastic bottle or cardboard that is littered along our highways and waterways is one more dagger thrust into the heart and soul of our existence! As long as some folks have the opinion that the world was created for only them, and act as if they are the only person on the planet, then we will continue in our downward spiral! Those pieces of litter are actually recyclable material and should be placed in a recycling bin to be made into another aluminum can, another plastic bottle or any other number of products that are produced with recycled plastic, and that cardboard or paper can become another box or piece of paper! As a citizen, not only of Bracken County, but of the whole wide world, we have a responsibility to care for the space that we occupy.

If you have ever considered and been amazed at the amount of trash that your household produces in a week, you will be totally blown away if you will visually multiply that amount by the population of this planet! Everybody is using, and many are abusing, the natural resources which, in many instances, are limited! One day, the oil will stop flowing, the metal ores and precious metals mines will have removed the last ounce of material, the natural gas will have been used up, the water will be too polluted to drink and the rain forests will be depleted! By then, it will be too late! We are not trying to be doom and gloom, but at the rate this current population is using materials, warning bells should be sounding in everyone's head! Mandatory recycling is occurring in numerous cities around the globe but who needs more laws? We need more common sense and responsible individuals to take it upon themselves to do the right thing! Give your valentines the gift of a clean environment for generations to come by RECYCLING, REUSING and REDUCING to keep God's earth clean, green and beautiful! Be seein' you – Bin & Bug.

Taylor Elem. 3rd Graders are ALL THE BUZZ!!!!

2018 is the year of the bee in Kentucky 4-H! And not just bees... butterflies too! Since October, the 3rd grade students at Taylor Elementary have been participating in a pilot program through the University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service and Kentucky 4-H Youth Development Program. The 4-H Bee Ambassador Program addresses key concepts related to bees, pollination, beekeeping, and honey. So far this year Molly Jordan, Bracken County 4-H Youth Development Agent and the 3rd graders have tasted several different types of honey, they have learned how bees pollinate trees, why we need pollination, looked at a bee under a microscope, and discovered what adaptations bees have that make them special. In the remaining months, they will learn about butterflies and even get to hatch some in their classrooms!!!

Thanks to the 3rd Graders Bracken County 4-H is now recognized as a "Place to Bee." They have won a honey bee challenge kit through the University of Kentucky. Mrs. Weiss, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Yelton, and Mrs. Sticklen are appreciated for lending us their classes!!

"Our Future Starts Now" with Bracken County FBLA

The week of February 12-16, 2018 is designated as FBLA Week for Bracken County High School. The week is meant to celebrate accomplishments, recognize activities, and look to the future.

Last March and April saw members competing at the regional (Morehead, KY) and state levels (Louisville, KY). Winners then traveled to the National Leadership Conference in Anaheim, California in June to represent Bracken County and Kentucky. June also saw several officers attending the Leadership Development Camp in Hardinsburg, KY. As the school year began, FBLA was off to a great start. The officers attended the Region 5 Fall Officer Workshop in Morehead, KY and conducted a Krispy Kreme fundraiser at a home football game. October was a huge month, as they opened their Blessings Box and then enjoyed a social trip with FCCLA to the Dent School House in Cincinnati, OH. Business students learned about Prematurity Awareness in November with a video created by Alex Jefferson, explaining Kaleigh's journey as a premature infant. Free Enterprise is vital to businesses and business organizations and the chapter celebrated by touring Toyota Manufacturing in Georgetown, Kentucky. The learning continued as 25 members and guests traveled to the National Fall Leadership Conference in St. Louis, Missouri. The first semester ended with the 10th annual Shoot for a Cure, held jointly with FCCLA, and earning over $2,300 for the Bracken County Cancer Care Support Group. The chapter is now preparing for upcoming competitions in March and April and have been working hard, but took a little time out to celebrate FBLA Week with some fun activities, such as Neon Day (because their future is so bright) and educational activities, such as a career workshop hosted by NKU College of Business.

Bracken County FBLA is proud of all its members and officers, but several have outstanding accomplishments. Mrs. Carrie Jefferson retired in May, after many years as the Bracken County FBLA Adviser. Macy Jefferson was recognized at the National Leadership Conference for earning a national Community Service Award and the America Level of the Business Achievement Awards. Korbin Florer was recognized for earning her America Level of the Business Achievement Award and place 5th in the prestigious Future Business Leader event. Macy and Korbin were also recognized as Who's Who in Kentucky FBLA. The chapter was named 4th in the state for the Local Leadership Challenge—a chapter event based on participation in local, regional, state, and national activities, awarded the Commonwealth Award of Merit, and the national Gold Seal chapter. In addition, Jimmy Poe has served as Region 5 Parliamentarian for the 2017-18 school year.

Bracken County FBLA has proven the Future Starts with their chapter. Congrats, Bracken County FBLA, and good luck in the future!

Dinosaurs discovered at Under the Son!

Students at Under the Son Early Childhood Education Center had a very exciting morning on Friday, February 2nd. They had a visit from the Cincinnati Children's Museum and learned all about Dinosaurs! After looking at fossils and learning about the different dinosaurs, they were treated to a "Dino Dig". The students divided up into groups of four and used small shovels to unearth hidden dinosaur fossils. After they discovered their treasure, they were helped to identify whether it was a claw, tooth, bone, or an egg. Once they were finished, they went back to the display tables and played with the dinosaur displays and showed their friends which dinosaur and or fossil they liked the best. The visit was made possible by an anonymous donation to Under the Son and provided hours of smiles for each of the children.

Frankfort: House Week in Review

State Rep. John Sims, Jr.

As a bill, the state budget isn't particularly long, but it's not a quick read, either, with blocks of text periodically broken up by rows of numbers.

At the same time, there is no more important legislation before the General Assembly than this 150-page document. Over the next two fiscal years, those blocks of text and rows of numbers will largely drive $22 billion in state spending and about $50 billion more in federal and restricted funds, and the policy decisions flowing from that will determine our priorities in a way no other law can. Without this bill, and the others for the judicial and legislative branches, all but the most essential state services constitutionally guaranteed would stop.

Over the past several weeks, the House of Representatives' eight budget review committees have been poring over Governor Bevin's proposal and hearing from state officials and stakeholders alike on how his recommendations would affect them.

For many, the news is not good. After nearly a decade of cuts, most agencies are being asked to scale back another six percent – and about 70 programs would see no more state funding at all if the governor's plan stands.

One of those that would be cut completely is the Georgia Chafee Teenage Parent Program (TAPP). For nearly 50 years now, it has helped young mothers in Jefferson County finish high school, and some of its more recent graduates testified last Wednesday how it had changed their lives for the better, giving them the educational and emotional support they needed to keep pursuing their degree. Taking away TAPP's state funding – less than a half-million dollars – could cost us far more than any short-term gain.

The same goes for overall cuts to education, which takes the brunt of the governor's proposed reductions. My fellow legislators and I have been hearing numerous stories about how catastrophic this would be.

Some districts in Eastern Kentucky are already at risk of going broke, having been hit hard by steep drops in coal production and the Great Recession. There is almost no way they can take on the substantial transportation costs the governor is asking them to shoulder.

In at least one district, some students are already spending four hours a day riding a bus because there isn't money for additional routes.

To help the most financially strapped districts bridge the divide, the House approved a bill on Friday that would let them take out an interest-free loan from excess per-pupil funding. There is broad agreement that this is a short-term fix, even if this becomes a grant they don't have to pay back, but it is a necessary step, nonetheless.

There is dire news at the public postsecondary level as well. On Thursday, for example, the president of Northern Kentucky University said that when all of the cuts and extra costs mandated in the governor's budget are added up, his university would receive one-third less from the state.

Similar issues are arising in our criminal justice system. Late last month, the Justice and Public Safety Cabinet said that the state's prisons will be full in little more than a year if further judicial reforms are not made. A workgroup formed by the governor last year has come up with nearly two dozen suggestions that would reduce projected prison growth by 80 percent over the next decade, but it is too soon to say whether those suggestions will become law.

It is also too soon to say what the House version of the budget will look like, but leaders have said they expect a vote by the end of this month. What is worrisome is that there has been no discussion about doing anything but cut. Moving in that direction would almost certainly slow if not halt much of the successes the state has helped many achieve.

As our budget subcommittees continue their work, the full chamber considered relatively few bills last week. Perhaps the most prominent was a constitutional amendment that would allow the General Assembly to almost immediately overrule Executive Branch administrative regulations – without passing a new law and even when not in session. Proponents say this will better ensure legislative intent is maintained, but opponents worry that it wrongly tips the balance between legislators and the governor's administration.

The House also voted for legislation last week that its sponsor says updates the law for those who work for such internet-based companies as Uber. Here, those in favor say this is needed to better tailor the rules in this growing part of the economy, but opponents worry that it erodes employee protections.

The 60-day legislative session hits the halfway point on Wednesday this week, so the hours spent debating bills will go up as the number of remaining days decline. I encourage you to keep contacting me with your views and concerns, especially until mid-April, when the House and Senate adjourn.

Senator Wil Schroder's Legislative Update

Saturday, February 3, the Northern Kentucky Caucus met for their annual public legislative forum. These legislative forums allow constituents to address their legislators in a public setting and express any concerns or support for pending bills or budgetary issues. While in the past the forums averaged around 150-200 people, this year's forum had over 750 people in attendance. A record number of people also signed up to speak to the representatives and senators in attendance. The forum is unique in the sense that the Northern Kentucky Caucus is the only caucus to conduct a public forum every year. As chairman of the caucus, I always appreciate this event and hearing from constituents. I want thank everyone who was able to attend this year.

Week six of the 2018 Legislative Session is in the books, and bills continued to move steadily through the Senate as work on the budget and pension reform continues. While we have not seen the newest pension proposal just yet, we are hopeful that it will be made public in the coming weeks as we continue to sort out details on this complex issue. As for the budget bill, its fate is currently in the hands of the House, and we are hopeful that we in the Senate will receive a budget bill by early March.

Among the number of Senate bills passed this week was Senate Bill (SB) 101, which modernizes laws pertaining to school district vacancies by reducing the vacancy notice required from a superintendent to the chief state school officer from 30 days to 15 days. This shorter notice stems from the ability to post jobs online, allowing school districts to fill them faster than before and creating less long-term open vacancies. Additionally, SB 101 requires electronic publication of the complete school laws of the state, which were previously published in paper form. The bill also requires school board candidates to file a transcript evidencing completion of the twelfth grade or certified results of a twelfth grade equivalency examination.

Senate Bill 88 prohibits the Kentucky General Assembly from imposing mandates on cities that require city expenditures or tax levies without fully funding the requirement or making the requirements contingent on city legislative body approval. Our cities are already strained without the additional burden of an unfunded financial mandate, and we hope this bill will prevent the waste of taxpayer dollars in such a manner.

Senate Bill 98 is a bill aimed at boosting local tourism by creating a new entertainment destination center license for counties not containing a consolidated local government or an urban-county government. The most popular entertainment district in the state is Fourth Street Live in Louisville, and currently, without the bill, the licensing fees are too expensive for our less populated cities. This bill will change that and make the licenses more affordable. I am a co-sponsor of this bill and testified in favor of it this week in the Licensing and Occupations Committee. The bill's primary sponsor, Senator Steve West, and I have been working with some local elected officials and administrators to make this bill become a reality. Senator West focused his testimony on how the bill would benefit the city of Maysville and I spoke on how I saw it as an opportunity for numerous Kentucky cities, from Bellevue to Bardstown, to attract tourists. The bill would not apply to dry counties and the city must apply for the license. We hope this bill will help bolster our smaller Kentucky communities by offering cities another tool to help attract visitors.

Removing barriers for a trending business was the intent of Senate Bill (SB) 106, which passed unanimously out of committee and on the Senate floor this week. SB 106 creates a limited license for beauty salons that provide only blow-drying and styling services. These blow-dry-only salons are rapidly expanding across the country. Currently in Kentucky, these salons must obtain a full salon license and employ fully trained cosmetologists who have completed 1,500 hours of training. Under SB 106, the requirement would be 450 hours of instruction – the minimum required of students seeking federal scholarships and aid.

I continue to meet with constituents on various topics. Some issues discussed this week included equity funding for Northern Kentucky University, legislation impacting physicians, suicide prevention, and certifying midwives as a profession in Kentucky. As a state senator, I am blessed to have the opportunity to meet some amazing people. On Thursday, I met Kentuckian Matthew Bradford, an American hero and patriot. After losing his legs and eyesight in Iraq, Matthew pushed himself through physical therapy and became the first blind, double amputee in the history of the Marine Corp to re-enlist. Matthew's amazing story and positive outlook were truly inspiring.

To those who have reached out to my office in the past weeks, thank you for staying engaged during these early weeks of session. If you are interested in following legislation online, please visit the Legislative Research Commission's website at www.LRC.KY.gov. You can find out who represents you in the General Assembly, track bills through the legislative process, and learn more about the legislative branch and its numerous purposes.

Southland Christian Church Lake Latest Addition to the Fishing in Neighborhoods (FINs) program

Stockings of trout, catfish begin in February

The 2.6-acre lake at Southland Christian Church in northern Jessamine County is now enrolled in the Fishing in Neighborhoods (FINs) program.

"We stocked the lake with trout on Tuesday, Feb. 6," said Dane Balsman, coordinator of the FINs program for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "The lake is on the church property off Harrodsburg Road. This is a highly desired area. Lexington has limited public waters for fishing. This lake will help alleviate that."

This lake will receive 1,500 rainbow trout total for 2018 in February, March and October. Stockings of channel catfish total 2,000 for 2018 in March, April May and August. The lake will get stockings of sunfish in early June.

"The catfish average one pound each, about 15 inches long," Balsman said. "We are stocking bigger trout in FINs lakes this year. They are between 10-½ and 11 inches long."

Balsman said the lake has a good population of largemouth bass. "We saw a couple of trophy largemouth bass over 20 inches in our population sampling," Balsman said.

The lake is under standard FINs lake regulations. Anglers may keep four catfish, five trout, 15 sunfish and one largemouth bass over 15 inches long daily.

"We are excited about sharing resources with the community," said Jim Cox, campus operations director for Southland Christian Church. "This will be a place that families will come and enjoy."

Cox asks anglers to not fish on Sunday mornings. Southland Christian Church Lake is only open during daylight hours.

"This is the first FINs lake we've partnered with a non-governmental organization," Balsman said. "We are excited about this lake. It is in a good area and will receive a lot of use."

Tobacco GAP Certification on Thurs., Feb. 22nd

By David Appelman, CEA for Ag & Nat. Res.

The regional meeting for Tobacco GAP Certification will take place at the Maysville Community and Technical College on Thursday, February 22nd starting at 6 p.m. This is an annual requirement of the tobacco companies and the local extension agents host this training to facilitate area growers so they can market their crop. Even if you don't know the status of the contracts, growers are strongly encouraged to go ahead and get this certification as the status of additional trainings is not known. Representatives from GAP Connections, Labor Department, and Dr. Bob Pearce, our UK Tobacco Specialist will be presenting at the meeting. PRODUCERS ARE TO BRING A PHOTO ID AND THEIR GAP CARD. ONLY ONE CARD PER PERSON WILL BE ACCEPTED. Again, since no additional trainings are scheduled at this time, this may be the only training offered in our area. Make plans now to attend.

Apple Orchard Field Day set for Sat., March 3rd

By David Appelman, CEA for Ag & Nat. Res.

A regional Apple Orchard Field Day will be held at the Fleming County Extension Office on Saturday, March 3rd. Folks that have or want to establish an orchard, or if you just want a few back yard trees are welcome to attend this event. The program will start with a grafting workshop at 8:30 a.m. and is limited to the first 50 to sign up. This includes your rootstock and scion wood. At 10:30 a.m., rotating sessions on Wildlife Management, Insect Management and Disease Control will take place. Lunch will be provided followed by an outdoor pruning workshop at the Browning Orchard located in Wallingford. You must register with your local extension office by March 1st, but if you want to attend the grafting workshop, early registration is encouraged as it will be limited. For more information, contact the Bracken County Extension Office at 606-735-2141.

Final Pesticide Certification Class for 2018

By David Appelman, CEA for Ag & Nat. Res.

Pesticide Certification will be offered at the Bracken County Extension Office on Tuesday, February 20th at 10 a.m. There will be updated information for producers related to worker protection standards and recommendations for various crops. This training continues to offer 3 years of certification for the purchase of Restricted Use Pesticides.

Interpretation of who needs to be certified:

The Kentucky Department of Agriculture has emphasized that anyone applying a general or restricted use pesticide to an agricultural commodity needs to be certified as a private or commercial applicator. The important points here are that if some applies a general use pesticide to a commodity that will enter commerce, they need to be certified and keep records of those applications. Persons applying general use pesticides around their home or to their home garden would not need to be certified. However, persons driving the application equipment, holding the spray wand, or mixing and loading pesticides to be used on agricultural commodities need to have private or commercial certification.

This training WILL NOT certify the use of Dicamba Products to be used on Soybeans that tolerate those types of herbicides. That training for our area was held on Feb. 12th at the Mason County Extension office at 6:00 PM. If you need training on Dicamba Certification, check with our office for other trainings across the state.

60,000 beginning farmers benefit from USDA program

By Wyatt Fraas, Center for Rural Affairs

Interest in farming is strong. We hear from beginners, as well as retiring farmers and ranchers, each day who are looking for opportunities and searching for solutions to farm transition.

The 2008 farm bill introduced USDA's first, and so far only, program focused on the next generation of farmers: the Beginning Farmer and Rancher Development Program.

The program funds organizations to conduct training activities, and during the past nine years, 250 projects have reached 60,000 beginners. Nearly all projects include business management training, skills previous generations of farmers largely had to learn on the job.

Surveys and interviews with project leaders have revealed farmer-to-farmer mentoring and information sharing were very effective; helping new farmers create networks of peers and advisors was valuable; and one-on-one advising addressed specific needs.

Organizations have also benefited from the program. Many developed tools and resources, now widely shared; with a majority still available. The Center for Rural Affairs, for example, led one project (with three partners), and has participated in six other projects nationwide.

Fifty-six percent of projects were led by organizations, and 40 percent were led by land-grant universities. Partnerships are required, which joins the strengths of several organizations and creates lasting networks. The program required 25 percent of funds to reach underserved and socially-disadvantaged farmers; more than half the funding served these audiences.

A report on the program's impacts, "Cultivating the Next Generation," by National Sustainable Agriculture Coalition, can be found at http://sustainableagriculture.net/publications/bfrdp/.

Panthers beat Blue Lightning 35-34

The Augusta Panthers were on the road Saturday, February 10th, to face the Villa Madonna Blue Lightning. In a game where offense was for the most part, offensive, the Blue Lightning would have a 10-9 edge after one quarter. For most of the 2nd quarter Villa Madonna outscored the Panthers 4-3. That lead almost held up until Preston Philpot hit a go ahead three pointer gave Augusta a 15-14 halftime lead.

The 3rd quarter would be dominated by the Panthers as they held Villa Madonna scoreless for just over 5 minutes in the quarter and they would hold a 23-18 lead going into the final period. The home standing Lightning finally started putting up points in the 4th as they made up the deficit and took a late lead. The Panthers had multiple chances late and could not convert. Their 3rd chance to retake the lead in the final minute resulted in a Villa Madonna rebound and left Augusta needing to foul to stop the clock. As the Panthers scrambled to foul a Blue Lightning player, Thomas Mains would get a steal and lay in the go ahead bucket with 4.1 seconds left. After a pair of Villa Madonna timeouts they were able to get a good shot attempt but it would not fall as time ran out and the Panthers had the win, 35-34. The win improved the Panthers to 11-13.

Scoring vs. Villa Madonna: Cordle 11, Mains 10, Philpot 7, Ripato 3, Appelman 2, Eichenberger 2.

Bracken Track breaks three school records at indoor meet

Breaking school records doesn't happen everyday, so when it happens it is a big event. It is a phenomenal event though when a team can bring home four record breaking scores from one event and that is just what happened to the Bracken County Track Team when they competed Saturday, February 10th, at the 2nd Mason County Indoor Track Meet in Maysville.

The record breaking began with the girls 55 meter dash when Karis Applegate ran in 7.99 seconds receiving 8th place. She broke the record of 8.44 previously set by Gracie Kurtz during the 2016 Indoor Track Season.

The next record to fall was the Triple Jump record of 37-10 set by Nick Parker during May of the 2017 Outdoor Season. On his first jump, Kaleb Darnell jumped 39-5, breaking the record by a full foot and half and taking 1st place. Coincidentally, he began the 2017 outdoor track season breaking his previous school record of 36-5 for the 2017 indoor season and the outdoor record of 36-11 set by Scott Fite in the 2012 outdoor season, with his distance of 37-1.25. During the long jump, he would place 12th with his distance of 16-6.5.

In the 1600 meter run, Daniel Simons placed 18th in 5:32.46, Thomas Yelton placed 22nd in 5:36.80 (PR), and Damon Bryant placed 44th in 6:10.77 (PR).

In the 800 meter run, Daniel Simons placed 6th in 2:26.84, Collin Jefferson 8th in 2:29.65, and Thomas Yelton 23rd in 2:38.68.

The final school record of the day fell twice when not only Jared Jefferson (9:47.00), but Brandon Cox (9:55.00) came in under 9:59.52, the previous record set by Jacob Hamilton during the 2017 indoor season. Jared and Brandon's record breaking times earned them 1st and 2nd place respectively. Nicholas Cummins finished 8th in 10:56.05 (PR)

Congratulations to the four record breakers and those competing. Good luck in your upcoming meet, this Saturday, February 17th at the 3rd Mason County Indoor Track Meet in Maysville. The team will have the last Saturday of February off and will compete at the Indoor State Meet in Maysville on Saturday, March 3rd.
